THE COMMENCEMENT SEASON.

CLASS DAY AT HARVARD.

EXERCISES IN SANDER'S THEATRE AND AROUND THE TREE-SPREADS, TEAS AND DANCING. FROM THE SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT OF THE TRIBUNE. CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 25 .- Of all the days in the four years' course at Harvard, Class Day is the one that awakens more fond hopes and brilliant ex-pectations than any other. It is preeminently the day of all days, and that of the class of '80 has been most enjoyable.

At an early hour to-day the large quadrangle surrounded by the college dormitories and buildings known as the Yard was the scene of preparations for the festivities that were to come. Up and down the Seniors mid be seen hurrying, sprucely attired in dress suits,

The Seniors met before Holworthy Hall shortly before 10 o'clock and began the exercises of the day by marching to Appleton Chapel, where a prayer was offered by the Rev. Dr. A. P. Peabody. After leaving the chapel the class dispersed, and the members made a few hasty preparations for the exercises in Sander's Theatre. At 10:30 the doors were thrown open to those having tickets, and by the time the Sculors arrived, led by the band, the little Greek theatre presented a very pretty appearance. A band, as usual, was stationed in the ultarly-shaped gallery over the stage-a similar posttion to that occupied by the orchestra of the Madison Square Theatre in New-York—and played some delight-ful selections during the exercises. The audience made a charming picture. The contrast between the conventhe bright-colored Summer toolets of the bundreds of pretty girls who filled the surrounding seats, and looked on with interest not unmixed with admiration, was very effective. All around the semi-circle gayly colored fans were fluttering, and the fair spectators applicated the speakers, and the singthe fair spectators applied the speakers, and the sing-ing of the class ode to the music of "Fair Harvard," with great enthusiasm. A sash of Oriental color was given by the presence in the audience of Kokun Hus, the new professor of Chinese. He and his wife and four children were dressed in rich costumes of sitk, cut after the Chinese fashion.

The programme of the exercises was as follows: The programme of the exercises was as follows:
Prayer by the Rev. Dr. A. P. Penbody.
Oration by Charles Wesley Bradley, of Cambridge.
Poem by Arthur Lee Hanscom, of New-York.
Ivy oration by Albert Bushnell Hart, of Cleveland.

Ode by William George Pellew, of New-York. The oration contained many timely hints for young men just about to begin life in earnest. The Ivy oration was witty, and the clever hits were greatly relished. The poem was gracefully written and was loudly applauded. All the speakers received bouquets of

After leaving the theatre the graduates sought on their lady friends and siroided leisurely over to the yard whore the afternoon "spreads" were laid. The sentor societies, including the Pudding, the Signet and the Pi Etas gave "spreads," or "teas" which were well attended, The "spreads" owne as soon as is practicable after the exercises in Sanders Theatre, which take place between 5 and 6 o'clock. The Signet society gave their "spread" in the north entry of Thayer Hall, having the students' rooms on several floors for the comfort and enloying: of their fair guests. The preasant seats in the windows looking on the yard were filled, and ite music of the band, which played lively music on the green from 2 until 5 o'clock, was a very agreeable accompaniment to one's ice cream and strawberries. The Pi Eta Society occupied Massachusetts Hall, and proved itself a royal host. The Pudding Club gave a "spread" in the afternoon near their club house. There were many private "spreads" given by parties of seniors, who banied together for this purpose in order that they might thereby entertain their friends in an acceptable manner. Beacon-st. and Commonwealth-ave, belies in the arigest and lightest of light Summer cowns tripped gaily across the grass from one "spread" to another, ted by their excorts, and when the round had been completed there were other attractions to call them away. The dancing began at Memorial Hall at 3 o'clock, and the scene in the bind dinur-ball between 4 mid 5 o'clock was a minuted. The orchestra was almost hidden behind plants and flowers at the west end of the binding, and the other floral decorations were in excellent taste.

At about 5:30 p. m. the Seniors met for a third time in front of Holworthy, and headed by the band made the enstomary tour of the yard, stopping and cheering the buildings as they came to them. At this time there were hundreds of interested spectators in the yard who histended to the cheering with great dehalit. Meanwhite those who held tick-ts to the excress around the tree their lady friends and strolled leisurely over to the yard

Senors and their friends at his busis hear the college yard.

The arrangements were in the hands of the class day committee, John Woodbury, Theodore Roosevoit and Albert B. Weimer, who have reason to congratulate themselves upon the successful entertainment. The chief marshal of the day was Robert Bacon, of Boston, who rows No. 7 in the University crew, and the other two marshals were Charles Ware, of Roxbury, and Richard Trimble, of New-York City. The class committee consists of Howard Townsoud, of Albany; Engano Fuller, of Cambridge, and Frederick Hallen, of Rocton.

UNIVERSITY OF WOOSTER. THE DECENNIAL COMMENCEMENT-PROGRESS AND

CONDITION OF THE INSTITUTION. PROM AN OCCASIONAL CORRESPONDENT OF THE TRIBUNE.

WOOSTER, Ohio, June 23 .- The decennial commencement of the University of Wooster has been an occasion of unusual interest to about fifty alumni and a host of friends who were present. The exercises of the season began last Saturday evening with the first contest between the Athensean and Irving literary societies Athensean won in declamation and essay, Irving in oration and debate On Sabbath afternoon Kanke Chapel was packed to bear President Taylor's eloquent bacca-laureate address on "The Mastery of Self." In the evening the Rev. Dr. George Heckman, of Cincinnati, ex-president of Hanover College, Indians, delivered an address before the college Y. M. C. A. on " Christianity the Leading Spirit of the Age."

More people than could be accommodated flocked to Kanke Chapel on Monday afternoon to witness the fun of Senior class-day exercises. Leading features were the class oration, intellectual chemistry by, Edward Kibler, and a buriesque phrenological exposition by members of the class by C. W. Boyd. The historian told the audience that his class tumbered twenty-one, four ladies and seventeen gentlemen. In politics thirteen are Republicans and six Democrats. After the exercises in the chapel, under a tall oak, the Scuters planted the emblematic tvy. They gave a concert in Quimby Opera House in the evening.

The Willard dadles) Society entertainment was held in Kanke Chapel, Tuesday forenoon. The merit of the performance indicated the success of co-education.

The annual Junior contest in oratory, which created more popular excitement than any other event of the commencement season, came off Tuesday evening. Ten commencement season, came off Tuesday evening. Ten picked men, chosen by a preliminary contest from a class of forty-four, entered the lists. The first prize, $25, was awarded to Edward S. Raff, of Canton, Ohio, and the second to J. J. Lentz, of St. Chairsville, Ohio. The tenth annual commencement was held in the pleasant campus grove, Wednesday, June 23, at 10:30 g. m. About twelve hundred people gathered t. listen to the short but pithy speeches of the class of 80. Norman C. Raff was valedictorian, and J. F. Kirkade salutatorian. J. D. The University was chartered by the Presbyterian Synod of Columbas, December 18,1366, and has since been owned and controlled by the Ohjo Presbyterian Synods. The corner stone was laid in 1868, in a grove on an eminence north of the City of Wooster. The University opened Reptember 7, 1870, Rev. Willis Lord. D.D., President. After three years the Rev. A.A. THE COMING WEEK AT YALE.

[FROM AN OCCASIONAL CORRESPONDENT OF THE TRIBUNE.] New-Haven, June 24 .- Whatever Yale's rank may be among the colleges of the country, no one ever doubted that she possesses the hearty affection of her graduates. They testify their love by appearing year after year in New-Haven as Commencement approsches, and there is no reason to anticipate any fall-ing off this season in numbers and enthusiasm. The programme for Commencement week has been officially announced, as follows: Friday, June 25, DeForest announced, as location in the Senior Class, at 3 p. m.; Sunday, Baccalaureate sermon in the Battell Chapel, by President Porter, at 10:30 a. m.; Tuesday, presentation exercises (Class Day), with the class oration and poem in the Battell Chapel, at 11 a.m., and in the afternoon on the Campus. In the evening the Soniors will give their annual hop, eather a promenade contert by contretey. social reunion and reception. Thursday, July is Commencement Day. The Seniors will get their sheepskins in the Centre Church about 12 o'clock, after their commencement speakers have had their say before the usual large and appreciative audience. As soon thereafter as the arrangements can be completed, the graduates will sit down to their annual diducer in Alumini Hall and the post-prandual eloquence will consume the rest of the afternoon.

The Seniors flushed their examinations Tuesday, and in the evening appeared on the campus in all sorts of grotesque costumes ready to go the class supper at Savin Rock. The New-Haven Band discoursed music on the campus mutil the college had gathered together; then, the Seniors heading the procession of all the under classes, marched around the campus cheering the different buildings, and returned to the Sophomore fence, which, as is customary at this time of the year, was presented to the Freshmen with fitting excementes. As a P. French, '82, made the Sophoman speech, giving away the fence and the Freshmen in very good style. The Freshmen responded through Vernon of their class, and thanked the Sophomores for their generosity. After the fonce exercises the Seniors marched to the President's house, and after flatening to a few remarks from him started for Savin Rock.

Theithird game of the series with the Harvards will be played here next Monday. Walden, second base, who was lately disabled, will probably be able to play on that day. The nine has done wonderful work this season, having defeated the following well-known nines: Worcester (thrice). Albany, Monitors, Brooklyn (tour times), Princeton (wiece), Harvard (twice), Anherst (twice), Jersey City and Baltimore, making a total of 158 runs to their opponents' 61.

The foregoing is the bare official programme, but of course all coilege graduates will discover between the lines a handred opportunities for the unconventional iolities which characterize the reunions of coilege men. For the first time in recent years, the annual bout-race between Yale and Harvard is to be rowed on the after noon of Commencement Day. There is no longer any

For the first chieff technyears, as a hard on the after noon of Commencement Day. There is no longer any doubt that, barring accidents, the contest will be close enough to be vasily more interesting than last year's finsco. If Yale should win, the nanual reminors in the balls of the Senior societies—"Serolt and Key" and "Skull and Bones"—which are always crowded and folly, will be altarious in the superlative degree. The University crewleft here Tuesday for their headquarters at New-London. Their new boat is unsatisfactory, and the probability is that they will row the race in their old boat. Wood still continues to coach them, and will be assisted by R. J. Cook, '76, who arrived here Manday. One or two of the crew have returned for a few hours' visit since their departure for New-London. They speak highly of their quarters, and seem to enjoy being on the Thames. Haivard, at last accounts, had not arrived at New-London.

CLEW TO THE MISSING MAN.

CLEW TO THE MISSING MAN.

The United States authorities in Brooklyn are still hunting unsuccessfully for the missing exdeputy collector of Internal Revenue, Silas I. Boone. Various rumors are afloat as to where he is. If he is in Canada he cannot be reached by the present treaty. Special Agent J. H. Haie, whose investigations disclosed the fact of Mr. Boone's failure to account for the broken books of stamps, vesterday appeared before Justice Bloom in the Third District Court and procured a search warrant to enter the house of Mr. Boone, at No. 269 Fourteenth-st. This was executed by Detective Looney, of the Central Office, who found in Mr. Boone's desk, a scaled package, wrapped in brown paper and parked "S. I. Boone—private papers." It was found to contain $229.76 in tobacco and beer stamps, and $32 in detached compons from ten pound tobacco stamps.

It is believed that Mr. Boone has realized the money for all the other stamps which he failed to account for. Agent Clarke, who certified to the correctness of Mr. Boone's accounts on Dec. 31, 1879, was yesterday engaged in going over the old accounts. He says that the misappropriation of stamps extended over several years and was concraled by false invoices. When the final accounting was done Mr. Boone included in his figures $19,008 more of stamps than he had on hand, but claimed to have sent that amount to Washington. Then as soon as Mr. Clarke had finished, Mr. Boone took that amount of stamps then in his possession and forwarded them to Washington in order that Mr. Clarke might find them there. The Department will lose nothing in the matter as the bondsmen of the late Collector Freeland are responsible. As Mr. Boone's bondsmen as only surstices for $10,000, the remaining $9,000 will have to be made good by the Freeland estate.

KILLED BY FALLING WALLS, OUR FIREMEN LOSE THEIR LIVES IN ELIZABETH

FOUR FIREMEN LOSE THEIR LIVES IN ELAZABETH PORT, N. J.—OTHEES BADLY INJURED.

The town of Edizabethport, N. J., was startled by a general alarm of fire at a late hour on Thursday night, fames having been discovered in one of the buildings of the Elizabethport Steam Cordage Company, used as a storehouse for hemp and rope. The factory is owned by Fulton & Co. The cause of the fire is unknown. The volunteer fire department was on the spot almost immediately after the alarm was sounded and struggled with the flames for twelve hours. Chief Engineer William Style directed the men, who, with the aid of six engines and two hook and ladder companies, succeeded in confiring the fire to the building in which it started, saving the gadjoining factory and ropewalk. The damage is estimated at $70,000, fully covered by insurance.

The fire was attended by a loss of life which seems to be the result of somebody's blunder. Company No. 3, which was stationed in Elizabeth ave., taking warning from the sound of the cracking wall, withdrew just before that side of the building fell out with a terrible crash. But the men attacked to Engine No. 4 remained too long at their post in the rear of the building. This treat wall also fell at 1 a. m. and buried beneath its ruins the six men working there. They were unable to escape. The work of extricating the infortunate firemen was at once begun, many residents of the place assisting. Foreman Fagan, of Engine No. 3, was the lender of the resening party. William Loseby, an employe in the rope-walk, and William II. Wood, a fireman, were killed outright. Jabez E. Marsh and James Moere were fatally injured, dying shortly after being removed. Among the wounded were John Hoover, foreman in the cordage works, John Seifert, and "Wick "Sayre.

WISHING TO DIE.

WISHING TO DIE.

A girl named Mary Jane Rourke, fourteen years of age, who for about a week has lived as a child's nurse with the family of Marcus Badt, a dry goods dealer of White Plains, attempted to commit suicide on Thursday evening by swallowing nearly four ounces of Paris green, which she fourchased at a hardware store. Yesterday slight hopes were entertained of her recovery. The girl's mother remained fwith her Thursday night and repeatedly sked her why she had attempted to take her life; she replied that she had a reason, but would never divulge it. When asked if she was inot sorry for what she had done, she replied emphatically; "No! no."

Yesterday morning the attention of Officer Beckman, of the Steamboat Squad, was attracted to a young woman who was looking around nervously and hurrying across the vacant lot at the foot of Canal-st. She reached the end of the pier, and was aloud plunging into the river pilen she was seized by the officer. The woman was almost crazy from the effects of liquor and begged to be allowed for drown herself. She gave her name as Flizabeth Smith, of No. 47 Forsythest. She said that her husband was continually heating and ill-treating her, in consequence of which she had taken to drink and finally resolved to end her misery. Justice Marray committed her to the Island for fen days. Fanny Barrett, age twenty-live, of No. 70 Stantonsst., was arrested for drinkenness yesterday morning and locked up in the Second Precine Station, Brooklyn. While in the cell she made two unsuccessful attempts to hang berself with her handkerchief and shockaces. She was prevented by an officer.

CONVICTED OF KILLING HIS WIFE.

Michael Slattery, a laborer, of No. 233 East One-hundred-and eleventh-st, was tried yesterday in the court of General Sessions, before Recorder Smyth, on the charge of laving caused the death of his wife Catherine by throwing fer down stairs. The evidence showed that on the afternoon of April 23, the prisoner came home and found his wife intoxicated. It is alleged that he dragged her across the floor by the hair of the head and threw her down stairs. It was denied by the furshand that he had malireated his wife. He alleged that she fell on the stove and then staggered out on the lauding. He siezed her shawl to prevent her falling down stairs but was too late to prevent her falling. The woman's skull was fractured and she died two days later in Belleyne Hospital. The prisoner was found guilty of manslaughter in the fourth degree, and was remanded for sentence.

THE NEW CITY DIRECTORY. THE NEW CITY DIRECTORY.

Trow's New-York City Directory for 1880-'81 was published Wednesday. In appearance (i) similar to the volume of last year, bet it contains 7,434 more names. This addition, at the usual ratio of five inhabitants to one name in the Directory, represents an apparent gain in the population of the city of 37,170. There are, in all, 273,716 names in the new Directory. It is sometimes supposed that one year's Directory very closely resembles the previous year's edition. In fact, a few years ago an unserupulous publisher gave to the public the Directory of the year hefote between new covers. The fraud was not discovered for some time, and many persons were deceived. Iflow little the present volume resembles that of 1879 may be judged from the fact given in the publisher's annonneement that the percentage of change is over 60 per cent.
